Hi!

My name's Ben. I live in Cambridge with my mum and dad and two sisters. We live just outside Cambridge in a small village. Our house is a detached house and it's very old. We have a huge garden. We're lucky. We're only fifteen minutes from Cambridge city centre, though, and I prefer the city. There's more to do. I like being by the river watching the boats.

My dad is an electrician, and my mum is a programmer. I've got the biggest bedroom, because I'm the oldest. My window looks out on the main road. I was allowed to paint my room last year. It's green and blue. I hate the curtains. They are red and yellow. Terrible. Mum chose them. I didn't want curtains. I wanted blinds. My aircraft models hang from the ceiling, and my new chess set is on my desk. I still can't beat my dad at chess, but I know he has to try harder and harder to beat me. One day I will beat him.

Dad wants me to become an engineer. But I want to study criminology, not maths. I've seen lots of television series and I've read lots of books about crime. It's fascinating. I got a microscope for my birthday and a fingerprint detective kit. Some day I'll be a policeman and catch criminals.

I like cycling, everyone rides a bike in Cambridge. I like to go on long bike rides. I go with friends most of the time but sometimes I go on my own, then I just put on my MP3 player and off I go. Right now, I listen a lot to pop music. I don't play with my sisters much, they're too young. Megan is five and Molly is seven. They like to come into my room and annoy me. They want to be doctors like my aunt Jill, and I have to be their patient! What a nightmare.

In the summer I play cricket with dad. He's good at sport, but he doesn't have much time. I think he works too hard. Mum is the same, she sometimes works weekends. Then dad and I take my sisters to the park for a picnic. Sometimes we rent a boat and go on the river Cam. You have to stand at the back of the boat and steer it with a long pole. There are always people sitting on the banks of the river waiting for someone to fall into the water. Last week it was my turn – I fell into the water with a splash. People laughed and applauded. That was OK but I didn't like my sisters laughing, too.
